THIRTY-TWO IN FIRST HUNDRED HIT NORWICH

Washington, Sept. 30.—The drawing of numbers for the thirteen million draft registrants enrolled Sept. 12 was started today by President Wilson.

Blindfolded, the president dropped the ball into the great glass lottery bowl and out came one of 17,000 capsules. It contained a six numbered 322.

giving men holding that serial number first place in their respective divisions.

After registrants already classified under previous registrations, the number was low enough to touch the list of every local draft board in the country except one or two of the very smallest.

Vice President Marshall drew the second number, and was followed by sixteen other notables who had been invited to participate in the formal ceremony of opening the drawing.

When it was over, officers and enlisted men of the army, navy and air corps, settled down to the task of emptying the bowl.

Two thousand numbers had been drawn and recorded before four o'clock in the afternoon, indicating that probably six hours would be required to complete the work.

The readers and tellers continued their work until midnight, when the drawing was closed.

Protest Marshall General Crowder hoped to finish early tomorrow.

Only the first one hundred numbers were flashed to the country by telegraph because of the impracticability of telegraphing all of the 17,000.

The press had been asked to refrain from sending more than 100 numbers. The committee, however, has decided to place in the public domain the serial numbers of the large classes.

There was an intense crowd to witness the opening ceremony, but the interest was rather in the participants than in the drawing itself.

For the classification system, which determines the status of the registrant, the first 100 numbers are relatively unimportant.

The first hundred capsules were hardly out of the bowl before the audience began to drift away.

The president, with Mrs. Wilson, reached the caucus room just before noon, and joined the group including vice president, Speaker Clark, chairman of the senate and house military committees, Secretary Daniels, Acting Secretary of War, chief of the department, General March, chief of staff of the army, Admiral Benson, the chief of naval operations, and others who were to take part in the drawing.

All was in readiness for the drawing, including a battery of cameras, reached across the room directly before the bowl, the only one used in the original draft lottery, had been brought from its place at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, for the occasion.

Before making his explanatory statement, Provost Marshal General Crowder said to the president that in his case the blindfold, always worn by those drawing numbers, would be dispensed with. Mr. Wilson said he would not do so, but he would make no exception in his case, so the blindfold, made from a slip of cloth that covered a chair used in the signing of the declaration of independence, was adjusted as the president approached the bowl.

The crowd applauded as Number 322 was announced and as president returned to his seat to watch the remainder of the opening ceremony.

Out of the first 100 names drawn there were 32 that applied in the Norwich division. These were the following:

REACH $546,000 IN SECOND DAY

Subscriptions of $25.00 recorded at the banks of the city on Monday on the Fighting Fourth Liberty loan made the Norwich total for the two days of the campaign $546,000, which is nearly one-quarter of the whole quota of $2,260,000 to be raised and shows that the committee is getting to work with good results.

There have been 730 subscribers so far of which 346 were on the first day and 384 on the second.

Chairman William H. Allen was greatly gratified on Monday night at the fine start that it was shown had been made. He wants to see the public kept up to the mark.

Ernest E. Geer and the Misses Anna and Gertrude Blawie visited at Ledyard house Sunday afternoon visitors in Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Buckley and daughter Charlotte have returned to Hartford after a visit with relatives in this city.

Rev. Myler P. Galvin, an assistant pastor at St. Patrick's church, who is ill with influenza, showed marked improvement Monday.
